Thermal Drones to battle wildfires at Nagarahole

Unmanned Aerial Vehicle (drone) with real-time connectivity detects fires at early stage; alerts rescue teams

Mysuru / Hanagodu, Jan. 22 (MTY&Mahesh)- Probably for the first time in the history of preventing forest fires in Mysuru, Hunsur and Kodagu regions, the Forest Department is using Thermal Drones to keep an eye on vast swathes of jungles of the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve.

Last year, thousands of acres of forests were reduced to ashes inside the core area of Bandipur Tiger Reserve and this incident has forced the Department to take corrective measures.

In the West, drones have transformed fire-fighting operations and the unmanned aircraft technology is a game changer for fire crews. The automatic flight system (drones) with real-time connectivity is helping prevent large-scale forest fires by locating and detecting fires where and when they start and communicating this information to emergency services in real time.

Equipped with sensors, cameras

The Thermal Drone is equipped with sensors and both thermal and infrared optical cameras. When the thermal sensors and the cameras detect a fire — even a small fire can be detected — it sends an alert with the exact location of the fire. The drone hovers above the location, collects optical and thermal images and sends the information it collects to the emergency services centre in real time.

When the inferno began in Bandipur last year, the authorities failed to pin-point the exact location of the fire and as such the fire extinguishing and rescue teams could not rush to the spot immediately and by the time the teams reached, the damage was done. Learning lessons from this incident, the Department has adopted drone technology at Nagarahole this time.

Supreme Court refuses stay on CAA

New Delhi, Jan. 22 (UNI & Agencies)- The Supreme Court this morning made it clear that it will not grant any stay on the Citizenship Amendment Act (CAA) without hearing the Centre and said it may refer pleas challenging the validity of the Act to a larger Constitution Bench.

A Bench headed by Chief Justice S.A. Bobde is hearing a batch of 143 pleas challenging the validity of CAA.

Attorney General Venugopal told the Bench that the Central Government wanted time to respond to pleas which have not been served on it.

Senior advocate Kapil Sibal urged the Bench to put on hold the operation of CAA and postpone the exercise of the National Population Register (NPR) for the time being. The Apex Court has said it will not grant any stay on CAA without hearing the Centre on the matter.

Amid widespread protests against the CAA, the Supreme Court granted the Centre four weeks time to respond on all the petitions challenging the validity of the CAA.

Embedded environment

The terms environment and ecosystem seem to be used and understood as synonyms, particularly by writers on issues relating to climate change and speakers recognised in society as environmentalists, the tribe trying to enlighten both administrations and lay public on the imperatives of avoiding all human activities that hurt environment to the detriment of both living (biotic) organisms and non-living (abiotic) on land's surface, beneath the land's surface, aquatic zones and others. The current scenario across all regions of the world, including India, focussing on worsening environmental conditions, has concentrated attention bestowed on ambient air pollution, fouling of river waters and plastic menace, about which the media has kept the people well-informed, with feeble signs of the literati falling in line in some pockets and the rest not giving up their time-honoured habits that are clearly environment unfriendly. Thanks to copious rains over most parts of the country this monsoon, panic buttons are at rest for now. Also, the depleting groundwater level is not figuring currently in public domain as prominently as before, may be because it is not in public glare, being in embedded environment.

Accessing water to meet the daily needs such as drinking, cooking, washing and bathing as well as farming until the dawn of electricity was beset with physical labour, which meant water was consumed in a self-regulating system. Ease of accessing water, particularly piped water has proved both a convenience and a curse leading to its man-made scarcity.

While the total stock of water both over ground and underground is heading for steady reduction, both quantitatively and qualitatively, there are no signs of reduction in the total population of the country, thus critically reducing the per capita availability of it. Allowing lakes to yield place to residential layouts and doing away with conventional wells are the undoing of urbanites such as in the two major cities of Karnataka, namely Bengaluru and Mysuru, who have resorted to creating borewells on a scale far outstretching the groundwater stock in all regions. A study conducted by a research team, as reported in media last week, has found dramatic decline in agricultural income following the loss of access to groundwater due to drying up borewells.

The consequences of depleting water sources, both terrestrial and subterranian, don't seem to have dawned on people at large, particularly the sections in cities, including Mysuru, drawing water from borewells. The outlook to groundwater, not visible, being part of the embedded environment, on the part of those householders equipped with borewells reminds us of the story of the greedy farmer killing the fowl laying golden eggs.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

It is profound irony that in the 1990s, during the worst years of displacement, the Pandits, then one of the most liberal and accommodative of minorities, found succour only in the Shiv Sena's Balasaheb Thackeray who ensured reservations for them in professional colleges in Maharashtra. As analyst Rishi Razdan put it in a recent social media post, "a persecuted Hindu minority from a Muslim-majority State within a Hindu-majority country [was] a damning validation of all the fears that Hindutva had been peddling for decades." And one of the great failures of the Indian Liberal Left was "losing the moral courage to speak loudly and clearly for those who needed their aid." But what next?

NEWS SPARKLERS

Shop charges people for trying on suits

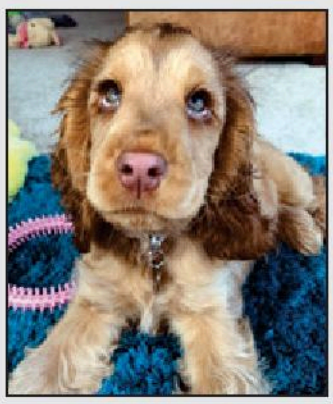
Bilbao: A tailoring shop in the Spanish city of Bilbao has sparked a heated debate online after it was reported that it started charging people 15 euros ($16.7) just for trying on clothes.

Camino Azula Pascual, co-owner of the Pascual Bilbao tailoring shop in downtown Bilbao, has been making custom men's suits and tuxedos for 40 years, so she doesn't even need a measuring tape anymore. As soon as someone walks through the door, she knows their measurements, and, if they're in a hurry, she can even recommend something that would suit the special occasion perfectly.

But this is a skill that she and her brother Carlos have honed over four long decades and wasting it all on people who don't even want to buy anything is no longer acceptable. That's why starting this year, Pascual Bilbao has implemented a 15 euro tax for everyone looking to try on suits in the shop.

Puppy conquers internet with her mesmerizing eyes



London: The internet has fallen in love with a Cocker Spaniel named Winnie, who has such pretty eyes people have compared her to a Disney princess.

With over 211,000 followers on Instagram alone, it's fair to say that Winnie the cocker spaniel is a true social media sensation, and it's all thanks to her gorgeous eyes, of which people just seem to get enough of.

Winnie's gaze had been drawing attention ever since she was born, in October of 2019, but it really catapulted her to star status five days ago, when her owners posted a particularly adorable photo of her on her Instagram account and tagged it "I can read your mind... you think I'm adorable?" The beautiful pup has been conquering hearts ever since.

VOICE OF THE READER

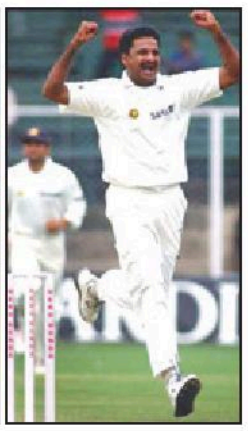
Name Pavilion at SDNR Wadiyar Stadium after Javagal Srinath



Sir,

Madame Tussauds is a wax museum in London, displaying wax-works of celebrities, famous and historical personalities. Precision-worked, life-size statues of Narendra Modi, Shah Rukh Khan and Amitabh Bachchan have been erected here along with cricketing icons like Sachin Tendulkar and Virat Kohli.

Meanwhile, Yuvraj Singh's life-size statue was unveiled in Ferozpur outside the District Cricket Association's Ground on New Year's Day. They believe this will inspire and influence a lot of younger generation to be tough both on and off the field.

India has other interesting ways to commemorate the achievements of cricketers. Naming a stand after a cricketer in the ground is one common way. We have Sachin Tendulkar and Sunil Gavaskar stand at Wankhede Stadium in Mumbai so does Sourav Ganguly stand at Eden Gardens. Surprisingly, the Gates at the stadium are named after Virender Sehwag and Anjum Chopra in Delhi. Lord's, considered as Mecca of Cricket is named after Thomas Lord, a famous first-class cricketer.

Rahul Dravid, popularly known as the 'Wall of India' is honoured with a 10,000 brick wall inside Chinnaswamy Stadium in Bengaluru, signifying his 10,000-plus runs in both Test and ODIs.

Anil Kumble, the only Indian to have picked up all the 10 wickets in an innings in a Test match against Pakistan, has a Traffic Signal named after him just in front of Chinnaswamy Stadium. Also, Kumble was gifted a car with a customised Registration Number of KA - 10 - N - 10 by the Karnataka Government.

Tendulkar is the first and the only sporting icon to have been conferred with Bharat Ratna, the highest civilian award for his numerous achievements in cricket.

Javagal Srinath, popularly known as The Mysore Express, is the only player from Mysuru to have represented India in any form of the game. He earned the coveted India Cap when opportunities were far and few between. His bowling action, the in-swingers and his animated celebrations after picking up a wicket are a sight to behold. Invariably fans speak of Srinath with the same reverence as that of Kapil Dev.

He was the first bowler to take 300 wickets in ODI for India. His finest moment was when he picked up 8/86 in the second innings of Asian Test Championship against Pakistan in 1999. Indian Government honoured him with Arjuna Award in 1996.

But Javagal Srinath has not got the recognition that he truly deserves, though his achievements are colossal. Being one of his biggest fans, I request the KSCA to name the Pavilion at SDNR Wadiyar Stadium in city after Javagal Srinath or anything of the like and thus give a befitting tribute to this man of refreshing candour.

Woman gives supari to eliminate hubby

- Accused arrested within a few hours; Pistol, dagger seized
- Cops nab two accused at Channarayapatna Bus Stand

Mandya, Jan. 22 (Nagaiah& KS)- A 27-year-old man has been murdered in front of his wife and children at his house in Vidyanagar 2nd Cross on Monday night and Channarayapatna Police have arrested two persons at Channarayapatna Bus Stand, while they were trying to flee to Rajasthan. The arrested are Manish and Kishan, both native of Rajasthan.

The Police, who interrogated the accused were told that they (accused) had received 'supari' from the victim's wife and her lover to eliminate him. The deceased is Bundaram Jeevarappa, a native of Pali in Rajasthan. Bundaram was running Mataji Hardware Store on Guttalu Road in Mandya. His uncle's children too were running a Hardware Store on 100ft. Road here.

Bundaram had taken a three storey house in front of Kumar Dental Clinic on rent where his brother was staying on the second floor and Bundaram, along with his wife and children, on the third floor. On Monday, after closing the shop for the day, Bundaram returned home and was sleeping after having his dinner.

At about 11.30 pm, Bundaram's cell phone began to ring and Bundaram, began to talk over the phone and climbed down the stairs and went near the gate of the house during which four masked men held him. One of them held a pistol on Bundaram's head and asked him to get into his house. When the masked men took Bundaram to his house, they first tied Bundaram's wife and children and also gagged them so that they could not make sound. The masked men later stabbed Bundaram in front of his family members, slit his throat and killed him.

Victim Bundaram Jeevarappa

After a few minutes, Bundaram's wife and children, who managed to remove the cloth stuffed into their mouth, began to scream which attracted the neighbour, who pushed the door open and untied Bundaram's wife and children besides informing the matter to the Police.

Mandya West Police, who rushed to the spot, conducted mahazar, registered a case and shifted the body of Bundaram to MIMS Hospital for post-mortem. The Police then summoned the Dog Squad and the sniffer dogs went up to Annapoorneshwari Temple and returned.

Mandya District SP K. Parashuram and Mandya West Police visited the spot. A case has been registered at Mandya West Police Station.

How the killers were caught?

After murdering Bundaram, the accused, carrying the pistol and dagger in a bag, left Mandya in a bus and reached Kunigal. As they wanted to go to Rajasthan, the accused kept the bag inside the bus bound for Channarayapatna and got down from the bus. As they were enquiring with others about other buses, the bus in which they had kept the bag, left Kunigal Bus Stand. The accused on not seeing their bus, enquired the staff present there, who told them that the bus had left for Channarayapatna. The accused informed the staff that they had left their bag inside and would collect it at Channarayapatna.

When the bus reached Channarayapatna Bus Stand, the conductor of the bus handed over the bag of the accused to the Traffic Controller telling him that the owner of the bag was left behind at Kunigal and he was on his way to collect the bag.

As the Police and KSRTC staff were keeping vigil on the bus stand following the bomb scare at Mangalore Airport, the KSRTC Traffic Control Officer inspected the bag and found a pistol, dagger, few letters with address and other things in the bag. The Officer immediately informed Channarayapatna Police, who rushed to the Bus Stand and examined the bag.

As the Traffic Controller told the Police that the owner of the bag was coming to collect the bag, the Police waited and when the accused reached the Bus Stand and asked for the bag, the Cops arrested Manish and Kishan, two of the accused.

During interrogation, the accused are said to have informed Channarayapatna Police about receiving 'supari' from Bundaram's wife and her lover to eliminate Bundaram in Mandya.

Channarayapatna Police then informed Mandya West Police, who has brought the accused to the Police Station for enquiry.

Forgery: Man gets 3-year jail

Mysuru, Jan. 22 (KS)- The City's First Senior CJ and CJM Court has sentenced a man to three years simple jail term besides imposing a fine of Rs.15,000 after he was found guilty of giving cheque with forged signature as surety for a loan.

The man, who has been sentenced, is Benki Chidananda, a resident of J.P. Nagar in city.

Seven years ago, Benki Chidananda had taken a loan of Rs.20,000 from one K. Raghu, a resident of Akbar Road in Mandi Mohalla and had given a cheque (Cheque No.893641) of Oriental Bank of Commerce (Account No. 10662011000539) as surety.

As Benki Chidananda did not return the loan he had taken, Raghu deposited the surety cheque given by Benki Chidananda to his account in State Bank of Mysore, Mandi Mohalla Branch, to encash it. But the cheque was not honoured as the signature on it could not be matched with the signature of the account holder.

On Jan. 5, 2016, Raghu, along with one Mihira Urs, went to the house of Benki Chidananda and asked Chidananda to return his money, during which Chidananda, along with U. Girijamba and Snehith, picked up a quarrel with Raghu, abused him using foul language and also threatened Raghu of killing him if he comes again to ask money.

Chidananda also told Raghu that he had intentionally forged his wife's cheque and gave it to him to cheat him. He (Chidananda) then caught hold of the collar of Raghu's shirt and pushed him out of the house, following which Raghu lodged a Police complaint.

Vidyaranyapuram Police, who registered a case, conducted investigation and submitted a charge-sheet to the Court.

Judge Yashwanth Kumar, who heard the arguments from both sides, found accused Benki Chidananda guilty and sentenced him to three years simple imprisonment besides imposing a fine of Rs.15,000. The Judge also ordered the accused to give Rs.25,000 as compensation to Raghu.

Senior Assistant Public Prosecutor K.M.C. Shivashankara Murthy argued for the Government.

Thermal Drones to battle wildfires

The system allows the emergency control centre to take control of the drone at any time to gather additional information and track the burned area. Drones provide a faster response and help deploy the team on the ground as safely and as quickly as possible, said forest officials who are in the know of things.

Training to ground-level staff

The drones are attached to smart phone-like device and can be operated by officers and ground-level staff who are constantly in the field. Speaking to Star of Mysore, Nagarahole Project Tiger Director Narayanaswamy said that training has been provided to ground-level staff on operating the drones and mock drills have been conducted. One such training was provided at Forest Department's Range Office in Veeranahosahalli recently.

The demonstration and training was held using a Thermal Drone, methods of capturing photos, ways to send alerts to rescue teams, details about weather and viewing footages of the entire forest and also precautions to be taken during forest fires and methods used to extinguish fire was provided by the Fire and Emergency Services Department to the Forest staff.

The officials also demonstrated methods to escape from thick smoke which can suffocate a person to death. As part of the training, forest officials flew a Thermal Drone for a distance of four kilometres inside the forest and showed the staff live visuals at the training room. [see pic.]

2,677 kilometres of fire lines

The Forest Department has created a total of 2,677 kilometres of fire lines inside the Nagarahole Tiger Reserve including 688 kilometres additional fire lines. From December to the end of March, the onus of protecting the forest lies on the Department.

Investigations revealed that a few miscreants had intentionally lit fires at Bandipur last year displaying their perverse mindset. Also, after smoking, lit cigarettes and beedis are carelessly flung by motorists setting fire to weeds by the side of the roads. This fire gradually spreads into the jungles. To avoid such incidents, fire lines are created

Nagarahole Forest area extended by 200 sq. km

The Nagarahole Tiger Reserve (Rajiv Gandhi National Park), which was spread over 643 square kilometres earlier, is now spread over 843 sq. km after 200 sq. km buffer zones surrounding Periyapatna, Hunsur and Virajpet taluks were included.

The forest which has been divided into Nagarahole, Kallahalla, Anechowkur, Hunsur, Veeranahosahalli, Metikuppe, Antharasanthe and D.B. Kuppe ranges, come under Mysuru and Kodagu districts and is filled with exotic flora and fauna.

Last year, to prevent forest fires, 1,989.2 km of fire lines was created as the area of the forest has increased, an additional 688 kilometres fire lines including 2,677 km fire line at all eight zones has been created and the width of the fire lines have been increased in sensitive zones.

Forest staff takes up challenge

Forest officers are keeping a hawk's eye vigil to prevent fire. Along with them are 300 temporary fire watchers, 108 department watchers and 135 permanent staff, who are on the ground.

Temporary watchers from various tribal hamlets and villages bordering the Tiger Reserve are picked up daily in a Department vehicle and transported to their assigned places. Food is being provided to them and every watcher and guard is equipped with a mechanised sprayer and other fire extinguishing equipment. A total of eight fire extinguishing vehicles have been deployed with one vehicle each stationed at all the eight zones including Nagarahole, Veeranahosahalli and Antharasanthe Zones. In all, 39 Department vehicles are being used to conduct routine beats and also to supply food to the watchers.

Narayanaswamy said that necessary arrangements have been made to reach the spot of fire within 30 minutes. Water cans and other equipment have been provided to the staff. Steps have been taken to conduct regular beats in forest borders and any suspicious persons found near the forest borders are being closely monitored.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka gives tips on how to de-stress a dog and about changing dog's food

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Is it okay to change a dog's food on a routine basis?

Yes. It is a great idea to change a dog's food on a routine basis. The monotony of the same old routine is not meeting all of your dog's nutritional needs. Rotation feeding involves varying your pooch's menu on a periodic basis so he can broaden his palette, and experience a wider range of nutrients and ingredients.

How can people who live outside India help and support animal welfare?

Indians, and Non-Indians, living outside India can do various things to support and help animal welfare. Firstly, they can donate either in cash or kind to any animal welfare NGO of their choice.

They can also campaign for animal welfare on social media, start a petition to increase the penalty for animal cruelty. Using social media, such as Instagram or Facebook, to advocate for a higher penalty against animal cruelty can be of great help towards the welfare of animals.

International Animal Welfare NGOs can collaborate with NGOs based in India and host fundraisers on a large scale. This will ensure generation of funds as well as awareness, which is equally important.

What's wrong in drinking dairy milk?

In order for a cow to produce milk, she must have a calf. Dairy cows are impregnated every year so that they will provide a steady supply of milk. In the natural order of things, the cow's calf would drink her milk. But the babies, of cows on dairy farms, are taken away within a day or two of birth so that humans can have the milk that is intended for the calves. Female calves on dairy farms are slaughtered immediately, or raised to produce milk. Male calves are often killed immediately, or confined to tiny veal crates that are too small for them even to turn around in.

Because of the high demand for dairy products, cows must be pushed beyond their natural limits, genetically engineered and fed growth hormones so that they will produce huge quantities of milk. Even the few farmers who choose not to raise animals intensively must get rid of the calf (who would otherwise drink the milk). The cow is sent off to slaughter, or thrown into the street after her milk production wanes. The dairy industry leads directly to the leather industry.

What is a vegan diet?

It is called mindful eating. The practice of eating neither meat nor other animal products, such as fish, milk and milk products, eggs and honey.

What is the main cause of green house gases?

According to IPCC, meat industry and dairy industry are the major cause for green house gases. Animal agriculture is responsible for 18 percent of green house emissions. Cows produce 150 billion gallons of methane per day. Methane is responsible for 24 times more global warming than carbon dioxide.

How to de-stress an animal?

1. Know Your Dog: First off, try to avoid exposing your dog to situations you know he can't handle. Loud noises, lots of people, and a bunch of other dogs in close quarters, can be big triggers for many dogs, especially if they haven't been well socialised.

2. Calm Your Dog: If your dog is showing signs of fear and stress, reassure him that everything is OK. Resist your first impulse to stroke him gently while quietly telling him "It's OK, don't be scared." Your dog can interpret this kind of reaction as a reward for being stressed out, so handling it this way could make it worse. Instead, show your dog there's nothing to be worried about. Speak reassuringly to him in an upbeat voice. Give him some pats rather than stroking him and act confident yourself. Because he sees you as leader, he will take his cue from you.

3. Rescue Your Dog: Some situations are just too much for dogs to handle. Even the most well socialised dog can become very stressed out over the sounds of fireworks or gunshots, for example. If your dog is extremely stressed in a situation, take him out of it. You don't want to traumatise him.

4. Consider Medication: If you have a very high-strung dog who can't handle travelling, strange people coming over, or thunderstorms, talk to your veterinarian about medication. Acepromazine, Xanax and other prescription sedatives, can help your dog feel calm when he might otherwise freak out.

You can also consider Dog Appeasing Pheromone (DAP), or Adaptil products that mimic the soothing scents emitted by a mother dog to help calm her puppies.

5. Expose Your Dog: To help your dog learn to cope better in stressful situations, gradually expose him to these events in small doses, offering lots of praise and treats when he endures them without coming unglued. This is best practiced when your dog is a puppy, but no dog is too old to learn to rely on you for comfort when he's feeling stressed out.

Do humans have to eat meat to stay healthy?

Dietetic Associations, all over the world, have endorsed vegetarian diets. Studies have also shown that vegetarians have stronger immune systems than meat-eaters, and that meat-eaters are almost twice as likely to die of heart disease, are 60 percent more likely to die of cancer, and are 30 per cent more likely to die of other diseases. The consumption of meat and dairy products has been conclusively linked to diabetes, arthritis, osteoporosis, clogged arteries, obesity, asthma and impotence.

My dog's eye has turned red. What could be causing it?

If they appear red or bloodshot, it can be a sign of many different eye problems, ranging in severity from mild allergies to something as serious as glaucoma, which can cause blindness. If you notice red or bloodshot eyes in your pet you should take him into see a veterinarian as soon as possible.

Do plants feel pain?

The scientific community is just beginning to recognise plants' advanced capabilities, and we now know that they experience a variety of sensations. They can close or open up to avoid an attack, or to await rain, for instance. Studies show that plants can feel a touch as light as a caterpillar's footsteps and send out signals — similar to those sent by the human body — to warn their other leaves to release bad-tasting chemicals in order to deter damaging insects. Studies show that plants also communicate with one another; share medicinal compounds with other plants through their roots, an underground fungal network, and the air; release pheromones; see, hear, smell, and react to dangers in the environment via sensing proteins; pass knowledge on to younger plants; and more.

Just as at one time, many people did not realise that octopuses — whose nervous systems differ significantly from that of humans and other animals — are extremely intelligent and sensitive to pain, it's possible that plants have intelligence and sentience that humans cannot yet detect. Perhaps one day, we will learn that they have ways of experiencing pain that we have yet to comprehend.

Whether or not that's the case, there is no need to harm plants unnecessarily. While we must eat in order to survive, we can harm fewer plants by going vegan, because eating plants directly, rather than feeding them to animals and then killing those animals for their flesh, requires far fewer plants, and hurts fewer animals who, we already know for sure, feel pain.

Cows, for example, must consume 16 pounds of vegetation to yield 1 pound of flesh, so by being vegan, we save many more plants' lives than if we ate meat. And of course, vegans also save nearly 200 animals every year — living, feeling beings who, scientists now know beyond a shadow of a doubt, experience the full range of sensations and emotions, including pain, discomfort, fear, and sadness.

Whether it can be proved that plants experience pain or not, vegan foods are the compassionate choice, because they require the deaths of fewer plants and animals.

A 28,000-strong force led by Peshwa Baji Rao II whilst on their way to attack the company-held Pune, were unexpectedly met by an 800-strong Company force that was on its way to reinforce the British troops in Pune. The Peshwa dispatched around 2,000 soldiers to attack the force which sought entrenchment in Koregaon. Led by Captain Francis Staunton, the Company troops defended their position for nearly 12 hours, before the Peshwa's troops ultimately withdrew, fearing the imminent arrival of a larger British force.

The battle was part of the Third Anglo Maratha war, a series of battles that culminated in the defeat of the Maratha empire and subsequent rule of the British East India Company in nearly all of Western, Central and Southern India. There is a "victory pillar" (obelisk) in Koregaon commemorating the battle.

Sanju Samson has been named his replacement in the T20I side, while young Prithvi Shaw has been called up to the 50-over side. Dhawan picked up the injury during the third and the final ODI against Australia in Bengaluru.

All-rounder Hardik Pandya also failed to make the cut after failing his fitness test ahead of the tour. Barring Dhawan's omission, there is no other change in the ODI side which played Australia in the just-concluded series that India won.

Shaw, who has only represented India in the longest format of the game, made a strong case for his inclusion in the limited-overs squad after he scored 150 runs in the second one-day warm up game against New Zealand XI on Sunday.

He also showed good form in the Vijay Hazare Trophy for Mumbai after returning from a doping ban.

In the bowling department, India have retained the same attack. They have gone with the four fast bowlers Jasprit Bumrah, Mohammed Shami, Navdeep Saini and Shardul Thakur. Yuzvendra Chahal and Kuldeep Yadav are the two wrist-spinners in the side, while Ravindra Jadeja and Shivam Dube are the two all-rounders.

In Dhawan's absence, K.L. Rahul is expected to open the innings alongside Rohit Sharma in both T20Is as well as ODIs.

India's tour of New Zealand, which lasts over a month-long, kick-starts with five T20Is — the first of which will be played at Eden Park, Auckland on Jan.24.

The first two T20Is against New Zealand will be played in Auckland, while the next two matches will be played in Hamilton and Wellington respectively.

The series will come to an end with Mount Maunganui's picturesque Bay Oval Stadium playing host to the 5th T20I on Feb.2.

The T20I series will be followed by three ODIs which will be held between Feb.5 and 11.

Airport bomb scare: Accused surrenders

The jurisdictional Halasurgate Police rushed to the spot and detained him and took him to the Police Station for interrogation.

According to senior Police officers, Rao confessed before Police that he planted the explosive in the Airport premises and reportedly told them it was an act of taking revenge on airport officials for rejecting him a security officer job in Kempegowda International Airport in 2018.

Rao told that he saw the news in papers and regional channels showing him captured in CCTV camera. Rao is said to have prepared the explosive in a hotel in Mangaluru. He is being shifted to an isolated place from Halasurgate Police Station.

He is not part of any terror module. Police sources also confirm that Aditya Rao has claimed that he kept the bag of explosives, without a trigger at the Mangaluru airport on Monday. However, Police say he seemed mentally disturbed, and his claims have to be verified.

According to the Bengaluru City Police officials, Rao is a resident of Manipal in Udupi district and also has Engineering and a Master of Business Administration graduate. Prior to being apprehended by the Bengaluru city Police, Police said that Rao was a junior manager at the Bengaluru branch of an international bank, but in 2014 has quit after seven-years of service and then worked as a security guard at a school in Udupi.

Police are now questioning him about where he purchased the explosives and how he learned to prepare it. Police have traced a hotel in which Rao recently started working.

The hotel staff has reportedly told he had purchased white cement online. Police have also detained Aditya's father, B. Krishnamurthy for questioning. After his son's arrest in 2018, Krishnamurthy had sold his house in the KHB Colony and had shifted to a rented house in Mangaluru. Meanwhile, Police took Rao to St Martha's Hospital in Bengaluru for a medical test.

Supreme Court refuses stay on CAA

The Supreme Court has also asked the High Courts not to entertain any pleas on CAA until the Apex Court finish deciding this matter.

The Supreme Court started hearing 143 pleas, both for and against CAA in a packed courtroom. With representatives of all 143 petitioners apparently present in the Chief Justice's court, the room remained packed to the brim.

However, this seemed to have annoyed CJI Bobde, who said that the noise is such that he is unable to hear a thing.

The Bench will now work out the schedule for hearing the cases and take up the cases after 5 weeks to pass interim orders. Assam, Tripura Accords and changes in citizenship will be considered separately and the SC has also asked for a list of cases from these two States.

WORD OF THE DAY

Glom

Pronunciation: GLAHM.
Meaning: Take, steal, seize, catch.
Origin: It's a classic case of glomming: Americans seized on glaum (a term from Scots dialect that basically means "to grab") and appropriated it as their own, changing it to glom in the process. Glom first meant "to steal" (as in the purse-snatching, robber kind of stealing), but over time that meaning got stretched, resulting in figurative uses. Today we might say, for example, that a busy professional gloms a weekend getaway. Glom also appears frequently in the phrase "glom on to," which can mean "to appropriate for one's own use" ("glom on to another's idea"); "to grab hold of" ("glom on to the last cookie"); or "to latch on to" ("glom on to an opinion" or "glom on to an influential friend").
Example: "It would not surprise me if the sampling 'Fleabag' receives from glomming an Emmy sets it up as a series that makes viewers eagerly await new seasons." — Neal Zoren.

THE ODD WORD

Gadroon

Embossed decoration or fluting on silverware.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Get on my wick

Meaning: To get on someone's wick is to annoy them; get on their nerves.
Origin: The slang term 'wick' features in several variants of this phrase 'you get on my wick', 'you're getting on my wick', we even find 'he got on her wick', although, as we will see below, the latter isn't strictly anatomically correct. The expression is of UK origin but sounds a little dated now and was much more widely used in the mid 20th century. 'Wick' isn't just slang, it is Cockney Rhyming Slang. For the source we have to visit the South West London district of Hampton Wick. The 'Hampton Wick' rhyme is with 'prick', which was later shortened to just 'hampton' or, less frequently, to 'wick'. As with other words that are now considered acceptable in everyday speech, example, 'berk',and 'cobblers', 'you are getting on my wick' is often used without the speaker or hearer considering the genital origin. That's not surprising as many slang terms are euphemistic in the sense that they are attempts to smuggle innuendos past the uninitiated. 'Hampton' and 'wick' are right up there in this league. The best example of this is seen in the ongoing battle that Spike Milligan (the writer of the classic BBC comedy The Goon Show) and his writing colleagues had with the BBC censors.
